

Wetlands: To graze or not to graze?

WETLAND WALK

Friday 26 November 2021

10.30am – 2.30pm

Michelle & Anthony Casanova's farm
273 Casanova Rd, Westmere

There is a lot of talk about how to manage on-farm wetlands – should we graze them or not? Should we put up a fence and ignore them?

Wetlands are incredibly diverse and resilient ecosystems, and generally easy to look after. However, a few simple things to know when making management decisions which can mean the difference between a healthy, species-rich wetland or a species-poor wetland.

Come and enjoy a walk around 2 wetlands in the Westmere / Mininera district.

Learn how Arthur Rylah Institute Freshwater Ecologist, Kay Morris, assesses how wetlands are responding to different types of grazing management.
